150 Participate In Cavalcade to Calgary

CROSSFIELD.— School here was adjourned for the day and a civic holiday was declared June 28 when the Caravan to Calgary, sponsored by the district Red Cross, took place.

Close to 150 residents inspected the Calgary facilities of the Red Cross in a project designed to stimulate interest in Red Cross work in Alberta district points.

Miss Herman, junior Red Cross director in Alberta, and 12 junior members, attended the children accompanying their parents on the tour.

The visitors arrived in Calgary shortly before 11 a.m. in a 35-car cavalcade and were met by a city police motorcycle escort which stayed with them and conducted them around the city all day. To facilitate the movements of the cars they were split into three groups, each with a two-way radio car supplied by the Calgary Emergency Radio Corps.

Through a central radio station the three groups of cars were able to keep on a tight schedule, as visits were made to Red Cross House, the present Crippled Children's hospital and the new hospital under construction. Local Red Cross members helped guide the tours and explained each phase of the work.

A picnic lunch was held at St. George's Island at noon and following the lunch the inspection continued. A number of the younger children in the party were left at the island under the care of nurses while their parents took in the sights.

When the tour finished at 4 p.m. the groups broke up and cars returned to Crossfield individually rather than in convoy.

There are twenty-one so-called "standard" railroad labor unions or brotherhoods. It is estimated that between 85 and 90 per cent of all regular railroad employees are represented by labor unions.

Benefit Dance Honors Mr. and Mrs. Edgar

CROSSFIELD.—A good-will dance was promoted by the friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Edgar and family and took place in the Crossfield Community Memorial Hall on Friday, June 30.

The music was supplied free by Ken Borbridge's orchestra, assisted by Martinus from Airdrie. Three tickets were drawn on a raffle that had been sold on hops donated—one from Claude Walroth and two weaners from Walt Havens. The large one was won by Mrs. Mosler, the two weaners by Margaret Vetter and Louis Blas, Jr. From collections was realized. This sum of $286 was realized. This was turned over to the Edgar family who have made many friends who feel for them in the acute illness of Mr. Edgar. Both Mr. and Mrs. Edgar are musically inclined and have assisted the orchestras in many Crossfield dances and in so doing have become popular in the whole district as well as their own community where Mr. Edgar ran the Parish and Heinbecker elevator for Mr. The Sunshine district contributed $22.70 toward the fund.

'Ban Shorts' Movement Causes Controversy

Demand in Ottawa that a ban be placed on wearing shorts in the nation's capital has the controversial pot boiling. Roman-Catholic organizations are spear-heading anti-shorts drive. Official eye of Special Constable J. W. Henshaw is seen here looking at Sally Soutar's shorts.

CROSSFIELD IN TABLOID

Mr. and Mrs. J. Spurr have left for Sylvan Lake to enjoy a month's holiday and complete rest. Peter Kachmar has received the station agency for the C.P.R. in the absence of Mr. Spurr.

Mr. Jim Rowat has returned after spending two weeks in the capital city, Edmonton, where he attended a short course on locker and cold storage.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Deeks of Airdrie are making plans for a motor trip to the coast. They expect to leave on Tuesday, 3rd of July, which incidentally is their 32nd wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Merl Myers was a Calgary visitor on Wednesday last.

Mrs. Garnet O'Neill spent last Tuesday visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Ferngren in Calgary.

Four boys left for camp at Kasota, Sylvan Lake, this week-end. They are Larry and Dallas High, cousins; Willard Smith and Ken Kotow, all of Crossfield.

Squadron Leader McLean will take the service in the United Church Sunday night owing to illness of Rev. Anderson.

Mr. H. Loeve of the Pool elevator, is a patient in the General hospital, Calgary.

On June 25 at 11 a.m., the United Church Sunday School pupils received promotions and special bars and pins were handed to those deserving of merit. The Sunday School was disbanded for the summer months to meet some time in September.

Mr. Anderson took her little Explorer church group on a picnic to Hall's coulees on Friday, June 30, where they had a wieners roast, returning games in the church parlor later on account of rain.

On Saturday, July 1, a large number of little friends were the guests of Ellen, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hector McDonald, at their ranch just west of town.

The occasion was the celebration of Ellen's eleventh birthday, and mother, who is an excellent cook, saw that everything so dear to little children, was in readiness for their occasion, which was thoroughly enjoyed.

Mr. Chas. Smart is recovering in the Holy Cross hospital after having received an operation on his leg on Tuesday last.

Rev. Anderson was a patient in the Holy Cross hospital for a leg operation on June 25 and is doing quite well.

Charlie Aldred is still a patient in Holy Cross hospital and is still in a critical state of health. He is undergoing another series of blood transfusions which the doctors hope will strengthen him.

Mr. Simon Cameron is released from the Holy Cross hospital and is in a much better state of health. Miss Barbara Bills has been critically ill for two weeks in the General hospital, Calgary. It is hoped that her condition will improve enough to allow a much needed surgical operation. We hope for good news soon.

Wilson Stafford is feeling much better again. We are pleased to see him resuming his duties in town and farm.

Birth — Mr. and Mrs. Michael Charney are the proud parents of a baby girl, born in the Turner Valley hospital on Friday, June 30.

Mrs. Charney (Wilda Laut), is the Crossfield United Church Sunday School superintendent, organist and choir leader and treasurer of the Avanti W.A., all of which wish her well and a special welcome to the "little stranger" who makes the third feminine addition to the Charney family.

Mrs. Valasek was taken to the Holy Cross hospital suffering from a partial stroke. She was making her home with Mr. and Mrs. Clayton High. Mrs. Valasek is an aunt of Mrs. High.

Walter Lilley spent a short time in Holy Cross where he was under observation for a threatened appendix.

Miss Gladys Ruddy Feted At Pre-Nuptial Shower

CROSSFIELD.— Gay yellow, mauve, white and green streamers and white wedding bells artistically decorated the United church parlor on Saturday, June 24 at 8:30 p.m., when Miss Gladys Ruddy was honored at a pre-nuptial shower.

She was assisted by Miss Alice Hall and Miss Hazel Ruddy in receiving her gifts which were presented by little Earle Robinson and Dianne Laut, as bride and groom, in a miniature car with Earle at the wheel. A huge box of lovely gifts were wheeled in many times before the supply was exhausted.

Gladys thanked the many friends present and a special thank-you to who had arranged for the shower.

Mrs. Huddle, mother of the groom and Mrs. F. Ruddy, mother of the bride, shared the honors at the tea urns. The table was beautifully appointed with silver services, mauve flowers and candles in the four pastel decorative color scheme. A delicious lunch was served. During the evening Neil Ruddy recited "My Sister's Best Wishes," and Pat Budgeon and Anna Ruddy sang as a duet, "Good Luck to You—May Your Dreams Come True." The gifts were displayed in the church.

New War Crisis

As this is written, radio news broadcasts are flooding out to an anxious Alberta a steady stream of war crisis flashes arising out of the Asiatic war that has flared in Korea.

Albertans, with other people, are hoping that it will be nothing more than a crisis that will somehow pass, but the threat of World War III is now more ominous and real than ever before.

In Korea, the Russian-backed northerners have invaded the southern republic which is supported by the United States. It is surely a testing ground for international conflict if nothing else. And if another war comes, it shall surely be said that World War III actually started on the day that Communist aggression flared in Korea.

If World War III does become a reality, Canada will certainly not be a behind-the-lines-nation, protected by a vast ocean. For armed battle will parade the streets and highways of the land, with Alberta possibly destined to the fate of another Belgium.

One can well imagine the terror that would strike in our hearts if enemy planes fill our skies, and the sorrow that we will know as our men go off to another battle.

Once again it can only be reiterated that decent peoples everywhere are praying that this is not it—that "it" will never again come to pass.

The Welfare State

Canadians are used to hearing the "welfare state" talk emanating from United States politicians, and many have by now come to believe that it is the U.S. that has the world's most extended social security system, and that our southern neighbor is spending the biggest part of its government dollar on such measures.

The actual fact is that Canada is spending far more per capita on the welfare state than is the U.S.

Last year the United States spent six cents of every budget dollar on social welfare, while Canada spent 22 cents on the same measures. But in the field of defence, the situation was somewhat different. Of every budget dollar, the U.S. spent 32 cents on military protection while Canada expended only 18 cents.

In view of this, and whether or not one is behind the welfare state idea, it seems rather funny to hear of lambasting American Republicans spouting off about the vast amount of money the Democratic Congress is spending on socialism! With only six cents of every dollar going to social welfare, such statements hardly make sense.

The United States is still the world's prime example of private enterprise and capitalism. The social welfare idea, good or bad, has hardly scratched the surface of American political thought.

Those complaining Republicans should come to Canada if they want to beef! With this country spending three times as much proportionately on welfare, they'd have three times as much to beef about!

Death in a Coal Mine

From Calgary Alberta

To the families and comrades of the coal miners killed at Cadomin, a mining community about 35 miles east of Jasper, goes a great wave of sympathy from all the people of Alberta.

Coal mining is a dangerous business under the best of conditions. One of the hazards not usually counted on is flooding. In this case a torrent of water from a mountain stream engulfed the mine and trapped the men. They had no chance.

It is encouraging to see that the miners' union at Drumheller has concurred in the need for immediate dismissal of any miner caught smoking at or in a mine. That anyone should deliberately endanger the lives of his associates is unthinkable. Thoughtlessness would be the only excuse. But under such circumstances no excuse is good enough. Every possible precaution should be taken to reduce the hazard of mining.

Diary of a News Editor

By RAYMOND ARGYLE

The chain of weeklies for which this news editor works embraces central and northern Alberta with 30-odd home-town papers, ranging in size from the South Edmonton Sun, serving the 40,000 residents of Edmonton's South Side, to such small communities as Casper, where the Clipper is read by most everyone in the district.

It is not by any means a monopoly on Alberta publishing, because there is well over 100 weeklies in the province, and in the main, it is the smaller towns that Community Publications serves.

However, we are fortunate in having some of the most promising and progressive towns in the west on our roll call. Such communities as Redwater, Lac la Biche and Morinville stand to rank among Alberta's leading towns in the very near future.

Over 100 correspondents send in news from as many communities in the province, some of it well-written and legible, but some that would harden the heart of the softest news editor.

Yet we are grateful for these correspondents who almost without fail sit down week after week to send us the news of their communities, and the doings of their friends and neighbors.

Nothing Trivial

To us it is not a trivial matter. Lives of the fine people in little towns mirror the lives of the human race everywhere. What they do may not be world-shaking, and that as God is not, for world-shaking events are usually ones of tragedy, but they are events that are every bit as important as those recorded by the highly-paid columnists on the society pages of the New York papers.

Thus we would like to make two appeals. One to the correspondents of our papers, and one to the people whose doings are mirrored in our columns.

To the correspondent we would say that we are giving our most careful attention to your weekly letters, hoping, incidentally, that you'll not fail to send in your regular reports. We would request you to leave room at the beginning of your stories for us to write headlines, for you not to place more than one complete story on one page, to write only on one side of the paper, and to include the time-honored "30" symbol at the tail-end of each story.

More Tolerance

To the people about whom our correspondents write, we would like to make a plea for a little more tolerance and understanding on the part of a newspaper which makes the job of a newsgatherer sometimes difficult.

There are some people, who for reasons we have honestly never been able to determine, shrink from the slightest publicity and place all sorts of obstacles in the way of correspondents, and then are insulted when their names do not appear in print! Then of course there is the overflowing person who wants columns and columns devoted to their smallest social affair, but we think our reporters would far rather deal with friendly people than with the close-mouthed variety.

Home-Town News

Sometimes an unmeant misinterpretation of some incident can cause bad feeling. An example of this is the doctor who became quite concerned over an item which reported that one of his patients had to be moved to the city for further treatment. Now the doctor was not at all at fault, and in fact had been giving excellent care to the patient, but the story neglected to mention this. So then you have an instance of a man taking exception to a story that was not intended to hurt anyone.

But in conclusion, remember that there is nothing more gratifying to a newspaper reader than to turn to his own home-town or district news. For this the correspondent is responsible. But it is not an easy job, and he sometimes gets too little thanks for his efforts.

Scriptural Meditations

By AINSLEY BLAIR

There is but little benefit derived from a hasty reading of the Scriptures. One may read the whole Bible through, and yet fail to see its beauty or comprehend its deep and hidden meaning. One passage studied until its significance is clear to the mind, and its relation to the plan of salvation is evident, is of more value than the perusal of many chapters with no definite purpose in view and no positive instruction gained. Keep your Bible with you. As you have opportunity, read it; fix the texts in your memory. Even while you are walking the streets, you may read a passage, and meditate upon it, thus fixing it in the mind.

Letters to the Editor

CIVIC CENTRE

Dear Sir—The news item appearing in the South Edmonton Sun, in which a variety of opinions on the proposed Detweiler Civic Centre were expressed by businessmen of South Edmonton, brings forcibly to the attention of the writer two pertinent facts. Firstly, the South Edmonton businessmen regret the fact that a similar development is not proposed for South Edmonton. Secondly, these same businessmen regret the necessity for financing from outside of our own country.

These observations are in line with another situation which the South Side businessmen have long and volubly regretted—the lack of a proper auditorium suitable to the needs of the citizens of South Edmonton—but what have they done about it?

Two years ago, the Strathcona Legion undertook the construction of such an auditorium, to be financed by a first mortgage, interest bearing bond issues. This organization anticipated wholehearted co-operation and participation from the businessmen of South Edmonton, but such has not been the case. In fact, the stock answer to solicitation has been that the 4 per cent interest offered is not as remunerative as keeping their money in their own business.

Is this not indication of the reason why a similar scheme to the proposed Civic Centre has not been attempted in South Edmonton and, why, if it were attempted, such a scheme would have to be financed from outside interests?

I might add that, not because of the South Edmonton businessmen, but in spite of them the proposed Auditorium in Strathcona will soon become a reality.

Yours truly,

A. L. HAMILTON,
South Edmonton.

FORT JAIL

Dear Sir—I have just finished reading the second installment of your series on Fort Saskatchewan jail, and I must say that it's so incredible as to be almost unbelievable.

If what you say is true, then I and other Albertans, I am sure, should no longer stand for a place like Fort Saskatchewan being allowed to operate.

You could a good point in asking for a Royal Commission. A Royal Commission could find out whether what you say is true, and if it is true, then something should be done.

Edmonton.

TRAFFIC PROBLEM

Dear Sir—We as a family enjoy reading your paper, South Edmonton Sun more and more each week.

Could you through the columns of your paper do something about the traffic at 109 street and 82 avenue? We have street lights but one still can't cross at busy hours as the cars turning to go east on 82 avenue are almost a steady stream.

South Edmonton MRS. L. T.

JUST BARLIES?

Dear Sir—In reply to the cowardly person who signs himself 'Veteran' may I be permitted to point out to him that if he frequented locations other than bars, he possibly could meet girls other than '100 per cent barflies'.

I agree with you, though, Veteran. More Canadian soldiers should have married European girls, instead of leaving them to bring up, alone, the well-known army 'souvestines'.

IN DEFENCE

Dear Sir—I'm a veteran, myself, my wife is a Canadian girl and as wonderful a woman as exists. I say that vet. who said Canadian girls are no good is a liar!

Welfare Crisis Looming Over Indian Status In New Act

A far-reaching crisis in the welfare of Alberta's 7,000 native Indians is looming in the foothills province, as proposed legislation to enact Bill 267—a new Indian Act—is arousing widespread opposition.

The rewriting of the act has been brought about by attempts to modernize the national status of the Indians, yet it may have far-reaching effect, with alarm among the Indians reportedly reaching proportions of panic.

Major points of controversy in the question are proposed government authority over Band funds, allowance of Indians to consume liquor off reservations, and the possibility of the vote being extended to the natives.

Unique feature of the matter is that the natives themselves, for the first time in Canada's history, are taking an active part in discussion of the laws which govern their place in Canada's society.

A curious part of the debate is that although the vote has been extended to Canada's Eskimos, the government recently defeated a measure to allow Indians the franchise. This may be in part due to the fact that Indian groups have denied any interest in the vote, stating that to acquire the franchise would mean losing other, and more valuable, rights.

Indians Vote in B.C.

In B.C., however, the Indians are allowed to vote in provincial elections. They have elected one member of their own race to sit in the legislature at Victoria. He is a member of the CCF party.

Under the new bill, Minister of Indian Affairs Hon. Walter Harris would have practically absolute authority over Band funds, to add or delete members of the Band, and to ask for the appointment of a committee of two whites and one Indian with power to terminate the existence of a Band without consulting members of the tribe.

In fact, throughout the wording of the act appear such phrases as 'the decision of the minister is final and conclusive.'

Another serious objection is the arbitrary casting out of the bands of descendants of mixed marriage between whites and Indians. The point is raised that what would happen to an Indian woman who married a white man, only to have the man later desert her and her children.

Indians are also rebellious over Section 100 of Bill 267 which would prohibit any Indian from engaging legal defense to protect himself, his band or his reserve, or to make any complaint to the government itself, without the written consent of the Minister.

Too Much Power

Indians further contend that the Minister is given power to break every treaty and every agreement ever made between Indians and the Crown.

New Strike Extends Oil Fields

Discovery of a new oil and gas field in the Peace River district has raised hopes for an entirely new producing area. The strike, made by wild-cattling British-American and Shell Oil men, is 350 miles from Edmonton. The map shows the principal strikes of the last few years in Alberta and how they have spread from Pincher Creek and Turner Valley to Stettler, Redwater, and near South Edmonton.

Social Security

Payment for social security measures such as baby bonuses, unemployment insurance, etc., are expected to cost Canadian taxpayers about half a billion dollars in the present fiscal year. This sum will exceed by $22,000,000 the total of all Dominion government expenditures for the fiscal year ended in March, 1935.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON:

Story of Israelites Is Retold Once Again

In the third month after leaving Egypt, the Israelites reached Mount Sinai, a part of the mountains known as Jebel Musa, "the Mount of Moses," a peak about 7,500 feet high.

Here the people were charged to keep a reverent distance while Moses and Aaron went up on the Mount to talk with Jehovah.

The language of Jehovah in his conversation with Moses on the mount, is highly significant. God declares that he has chosen the Israelites to be a holy nation, and a kingdom of priests. These people are to minister to the world in holy things. As priests, they have direct access to God; as a holy nation they are separated and distinct from other nations, called to do a special service for God. However, there is an "if" connected with God's promise, as stated in our memory verse, Exodus 19:5: "If ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant—then ye shall be mine own possession from among all people." Many of us forget the "ifs" of life, in claiming the promises of God.

Moses holds much the same position among the Jews that George Washington holds among Americans. He is their fearless leader. As one writer points out, the amazing thing about him is that he never deliberately tried to establish himself as a leader, but that he let God drive him into leadership.

The easy thing for Moses to have done was to stay in Egypt, as a prince in the court of Pharaoh. But instead, he followed the command of God to go and suffer for his people, and lead them out of their bondage. After being convinced that God would be with him, he had the will to serve, which is the first great characteristic of a great man. His leadership ability was consecrated to the will of God.

It was while Moses was on the Mount of Sinai that God delivered to him what has come to be known as the Decalogue, or Ten Commandments. These commandments are commonly regarded as the gift of God to the people of Israel through Moses, one of the most important gifts they received. Many scholars agree that the first four commandments deal with man's relation to God, the last six with his relation to his fellow man. Peake's Commentary on the Bible says: "It must always be remembered that negatives imply a positive, and that those of the decalogue rest upon a principle, the foundation of both religion and morality, that man's true life involves fellowship: 'Thou shalt live in fellowship with thy God and with thy family, tribe, nation, and (eventually) fellow men.'"

Realizing the importance of having a place of worship at the very heart of the state, Moses initiated the building of a "tent of meeting," or sanctuary. The enthusiasm of the Israelites in following the suggestion of God and of Moses is inspiring. They not only offered liberally of their goods, but of their time and labor. In fact, they were so liberal, they had to be restrained and, as a result, they gave an incredible fortune to the Tabernacle.

As a token of divine approval, the cloud, which the Lord had provided, to lead them through the wilderness, took up a new position over the Tent of Meeting. All through the rest of the wilderness wanderings, it remained there, with fire shining in it at night. When the fire and cloud were lifted from the Tent, it was a signal to break camp, and march on. God in the cloud and fire, was thus with his people both day and night.

Perhaps the greatest contribution that Moses made to his people was that he brought a whole nation into an awareness of God—he put the Tabernacle at the very heart of their life as a nation. Whenever they went, they carried their Ark; it was a holy sacred thing, the symbol, the abiding-place of the spirit of their God. The time came in Israel when the people were scattered; their precious Ark was lost and they went into captivity. But, even here, they were conscious of the presence of the Tabernacle and the Ark; they carried them in their hearts.

SOCIAL CREDIT DECIDES POLICIES ON OWNERSHIP

A public utility should be established only when individual enterprise has failed to provide satisfactory service. This is now a plank of the Social Credit party's national platform.

The policy concerning public and private ownership of utilities was formulated recently, it was learned last week.

The statement will be part of a new manifesto.

A government should enter the utilities field only when private companies have failed to provide service at reasonable cost, the Social Credit officials believe.

When a real monopoly exists or is threatened in a field, other than

'Loan Closet' Aids Cancer Victims

One of the life-saving services of the Canadian Cancer Society has the intriguing name of "the loan closet." From this store room sick-room supplies are sent out to cancer patients being treated at home. This is in addition to the dressings service, and it can provide a complete hospital room for cancer sufferers. Hospital beds, mattresses, overhead tables, sheets and pillow cases, hospital gowns, pneumonia jackets and wheelchairs are available.

While research goes on seeking the cure for cancer—much of it on grants from the Cancer Society—the society does not forget the incurable. In the past year, an Edmonton woman was found dying of cancer in almost destitute condition. Her last weeks were made more comfortable in a temporary hospital room set up in her home by the cancer society. This and other services are financed by an annual campaign for funds.

After nine weeks of the campaign, nearly $53,000 has been collected. Donations, and applications for cancer services can be sent to the Cancer Society at 10029 Jasper avenue, in Edmonton.

ANNUAL JAMBOREE PRESENTED BY UKRAINIAN GROUPS AT THORHILD

THORHILD. — Thorhild was the scene of the Annual Jamboree of the Canadian Ukrainian Youth Association, branch of the Ukrainian Self-Reliance League of Canada, for the territory north of the North Saskatchewan river, on Sunday, June 11th, 1950.

Locals taking part were Thorhild, Radway, Waskatenau, Smoky Lake and Spedden. Approximately 400 persons attended.

Rev. M. Fyk of Radway, and Rev. W. Senechen, principal of St. John's Ukrainian Institute in Edmonton, officiated the service, conducted in the Thorhild Ukrainian Orthodox Church.

The Ladies Aid of the Ukrainian Orthodox Church prepared the lovely dinner, and accommodated everyone attending.

The main event of the afternoon was a sports program, in which Locals from Thorhild, Waskatenau, Radway and Spedden took part. In the men's event, Thorhild defeated Waskatenau 11-6; Spedden defeated Radway 10-9 in a brilliant last-inning homer, and the top honors went to Thorhild in the final, with Thorhild out-scoring Spedden 11-4.

In the girls' event, Spedden defeated Waskatenau with a whooping score of 27-14.

The evening was filled with a concert, prepared by Mr. S. Boyko, Mr. N. Bodnar and Rev. M. Fyk, taking most of the burden on their back to prepare it. Many fine recitations, solos, dances and choruses under the direction of Rev. Fyk, were heard by a capacity audience in the town hall. Each CUYA Local was represented and contributed to the concert.

The highlight of the day was the Coronation of Elsie Swets of Waskatenau, as Queen of the Jamboree, and Nadia Wozemirsky, of Radway, Olga Chomiak of Spedden, Alice Klymchuk of Thorhild, and Olga Tkatch of Smoky Lake, her ladies-in-waiting, as Queen's runners-up.

Contestants will compete in the Dominion Popularity Contest, at Winnipeg, Oct. 1.

No Favoritism

SANTA FE, N.M.—A. B. Martinez, newly appointed Chief of Police, started a campaign against traffic violators. Proof that there's no fixing of tickets came when George Bentzen and Sam S. Montoya, both members of the city council, paid fines for overparking. A similar fine was paid by Chief of Police Martinez.

New Book Sketches Day In Life of Pope Pius

A new book by an Alberta author is reaching wide popularity on the counters of Alberta book stores.

It is 'A Day with the Pope,' a 64-page book by Rev. Chas. Hugo Doyle, formerly of Edmonton. It sketches an actual day in the life of His Holiness.

The book is copiously illustrated with pictures of His Holiness. He is shown at his office desk, conducting private audiences, greeting distinguished visitors or members of the church hierarchy, and in other phases of his daily routine.

The author stresses the exacting nature of the Pope's daily routine. Many of the Pontiff's official paper writings are done at night in his private suite, after his day's official business is completed.

"The awful toll that such a full schedule exacts of any vicar of Christ is brought out by the fact that the average reign of the last 24 popes has been only 12 years," says the Tarrytown priest.

Pope Pius, the former Eugenio Cardinal Pacelli, became Pontiff in 1939. He now is 74 years old.

The author was born in Kingston, Ont., and now is assistant pastor of St. Teresa's parish, North Tarrytown, N.Y.

He was educated for the priesthood at St. Joseph's seminary in Edmonton and St. Augustine's seminary in Toronto, was stricken with heart disease 10 years ago while a pastor in Alberta. At that time he was given only a year to live. He was transferred to North Tarrytown to be near specialists. Since then he has written four other books about the Pope and one giving advice to those contemplating marriage or newly married.

Morinville Man Treated By New Miracle Drug

Norman Weiss of Morinville, third case to be treated in the Kinsmen research bed in the University hospital, has greatly recovered through the use of the cortisone treatment from a rare disease causing inflammation of the blood vessels.

At the time of his admission to the University hospital, Mr. Weiss was suffering severe abdominal pains from a disease which is usually fatal. During his treatment, he was under the care of a group of University hospital physicians and received daily injections of cortisone for 25 days. Within a few days, Mr. Weiss was able to be up and about and within six weeks was well enough to go home, subject to periodic medical checks.

The research bed in which Mr. Weiss was treated, was financed by a grant from the Kinsmen Club of Edmonton to further medical research in the hospital.

Cortisone, a hormone of the adrenal gland, first developed about two years ago, was supplied through the National Research Council.

Letter to Louisa

Mother Won't Allow Young Daughter to Wed

Dear Louisa: I am seventeen years old and stay with mother. I want to get married to a young man of 21 who loves me and has asked me to settle down with him.

We have been going out steady for about two years and we know each other well and are sure of our happiness.

My mother will not hear of it. She likes the young man but she says I am too young to get married. I have a sister who is unhappily married and she keeps reminding me of her.

I sometimes feel like calling the whole thing off. But, I love him and do want to be his wife. What do you advise?

marriage demands, then everything may work out all right. But if he is undependable and craves a good time and excitement, you will be taking a risk.

As to your sister's unhappy marriage — there are many happy ones and many unhappy ones. Each one depends on the dispositions and characters of the two people who make it or break it.

LOUISA.

20th Century FARM NEWS

One of Alberta's Major Retailers

One of the major retail store organizations in Alberta is the Marshall Wells paint and hardware store chain. A typical modernistic store is seen here. Self Feeding Hogs Not Always Best

Self-feeding hogs has become so general now-a-days that feeding in this way has become the accepted method in many districts.

But self-feeding should not lead to carelessness and to neglect of the pigs. It is important to watch the development of the pigs, possibly more so than with hand feeding, and prepare a feed mixture suitable to their growth and condition. To do this, the feed mixture will need to be varied from time to time.

In developing feed mixtures for self-feeding, possibly the simplest was is to consider first the feed mixtures used for hand feeding. There are commercial pig starters, pig growers, and pig finishers available, or the operator can mix his own mixtures from home-grown grains along with protein and mineral supplements. When self-feeding such mixtures it is advisable to include more of the bulky feeds such as oats, alfalfa meal or bran. With increased bulk in the ration the pig will still satisfy his appetite, but will consume less of the fattening feeds included in the mixture.

Complete information on the self-feeding of swine, suitable feed mixtures and a plan with construction details of a self-feeder are contained in Circular No. 129 "The Self-Feeder for Hogs" which can be obtained free upon request from Information Service, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Telephone Company Officers Meet

BEISEKER.—Beiseker North-West Mutual Telephone Company held a directors meeting on June 28 at the home of Mr. Joe Hagel with 10 shareholders present.

After the regular business, Joe Hagel, Jacob Hagel and Anselm Schmaltz were elected delegates to a meeting in Acme on Wednesday, July 5, of all the Mutual Telephone companies in the province who are all out for the purpose of organizing a provincial organization.

It appears that these men were treated to a real banquet afterwards, and there isn't any doubt that these men will ever miss a meeting when they are treated this way.

Mr. Mrs. Schwengler Mark Anniversary

BEISEKER.—A large number of friends of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Schwengler gathered at their home on Thursday evening, June 29 to celebrate with them their golden wedding anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. Schwengler were married in 1900 in the old country, and left there in 1908, coming to Beiseker for two years, and then homesteaded south of Whitts until 1924, when they came back to Beiseker. Mr. Schwengler retired in 1949 leaving the farm to take up residence in the town. They are both very active, and enjoy working in their garden.

They have three daughters and four sons: Mrs. Joe Hagel, Beiseker; Mrs. P. Miller, Prelester, Sask.; Mrs. Joe Kiprick, William, Anton, Simon and Nick all of Beiseker, and 21 grandchildren.

The ladies prepared a lovely luncheon for this occasion with the rooms prettily decorated with peonies and other flowers. Rev. A. E. Tennant presented Mr. and Mrs. Schwengler with a beautiful rosary each from the family, and they also were given a hotplate from the other guests.

Guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Ignatz, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Schmaltz, Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Veiker, Mr. and Mrs. John Schwengler, Mr. and Mrs. George Pfeifer, Mr.

“The greatest need now is not for more social and moral reform; not for more creeds and dogmas and codes of ethics, but the greatest need of this day and general is for men and nations to get back to the Bible as the word of God; to get back to the old-fashioned altar and to Jesus Christ,” said Mr. Manning, who is prominent in religious activities in Alberta.

At a business session, George, Abbott of Toronto was elected president, succeeding W. B. Wortman of London, Ontario.

Mr. Manning said he felt that humanity has not much longer in which to make up its mind whether or not it is going on to its own self-annihilation by “rejecting the guidance of God's book.”

Some suggested the solution to the world's ills lies in the economic and political fields, the premier said. He added:

“I am not minimizing this, but it is useless for men and nations to follow a great world organization in the hope of procuring peace for mankind.”

She Just Had A Hunch

DETROIT.—Mrs. Anna R. Peterson had a feeling that her marriage might not work out too well when her husband William quit his job as soon as they were married, she told Circuit Judge Clyde L. Webster.

Her intuition proved correct, she said. “I'm married now, and it's up to you to take care of me,” she quoted Peterson as saying. Judge Webster granted a divorce.

Irene Madeleine Lemay Wed to Joseph E. Ternes

BEISEKER.—St. Mary's Church, Beiseker, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Tuesday, June 27th, when Irene Madeleine Lemay, second youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Lemay, Trochu, became the bride of Joseph E. Ternes, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Ike Ternes, Beiseker.

Rev. A. E. Tennant officiated at the marriage ceremony, and celebrated the nuptial mass. Rev. Fr. Conway, Trochu, was present in the sanctuary. Mrs. Lou Brosteaux played the wedding music during the mass, and Mrs. Kille sang several beautiful hymns.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in white satin gown styled with a nylon yoke, fitted bodice, with long high point sleeves, and her full skirt was train length. Her floor length veil cascaded from an orange blossom and net halo, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink and red roses.

She was attended by Miss Florence Plum, Calgary, and Miss Kay Ternes, sister of the bridegroom; Florence chose a mauve taffeta gown with fitted bodice, full skirt with short fish-tail pebbles, mauve elbow-length gloves, mauve beanie tied with tulle in a large bow under her chin, and carried a bouquet of yellow Shasta daisies; Kay chose a matching gown, gloves and head-dress in yellow, and carried a colonial bouquet of pink rose buds.

The flower girl, Roberta Clark, cousin of the bride, wore a formal gown of pink taffeta, and carried a colonial bouquet of mixed flowers.

The bridegroom was attended by his cousin, Max Ternes, and the bride's brother, Francis Lemay. Ushering the guests were Ted DeWaal and Stanley Schmalz.

Following the ceremony a wed-dning breakfast was held in the Memorial hall for the immediate relatives and friends. Later in the day a reception was held in the hall for 100 relatives and friends.

For their honeymoon trip to Great Falls the bride chose a navy tailored suit, navy and mauve accessories, and a corsage of yellow roses. On their return they will reside in the Beiseker district.

You Can't Be Too Careful

MOUNT PULASKI, Ill.—When FBI agent Ross Randolph rose to give his speech, another man on the program handed him his watch. Red-faced Randolph had had his pocket picked by Lee Henneberry, magician who had gathered wallets and other valuables from the unsuspecting audience at an "Odd Fellows" meeting. Randolph's subject was "Watching Criminals." He confessed he was almost speechless.
